OPENING REMARKS OF NRC CHAIRMAN GREGORY B. JACZKO AT TODAY'S ANNUAL BRIEFING FOR THE COMMISSION FROM THE OAS AND CRCPD

The Commission meets today to receive its annual briefing from representatives of the Organization of Agreement States (OAS) and the Conference of Radiation Control Program Directors (CRCPD). This annual meeting offers a good opportunity for the agency and these important organizations to discuss how to further enhance what is already a strong working relationship.

As our agenda today demonstrates, there are a number of important issues on which the NRC and the States work together closely – perhaps none as significant as source security. It is critical that the NRC, the OAS, and the CRCPD continue to coordinate effectively on the National Source Tracking System, Web-Based Licensing, and the License Verification System to ensure that their implementation proceeds smoothly. I look forward to discussing these issues, as well as other areas of mutual interest on our agenda today.
